The relay daemon forwards queued messages to every registered worker in arrival order and waits for an acknowledgement before removal.